Dear Dr. Henney,

I am very concerned about genetic engineering of our foods. I prefer not to eat these foods, but as things now stand, I am not given the information that can enable me to make that choice. May we please have all such foods labeled so the consumer can make a personal choice about whether they choose to eat these foods or not. I know many consumers would appreciate and use this information.

Thank you for your help in this matter..

Sincerely,
